

Safari Industries

BUY

Result beat; Upgrade to BUY

Summary

Safari Industries reported better than expected Q1FY22 result. Its sales/ EBITDA were significantly above our estimates. Safari Industries' net sales increased by 5x YoY to Rs1,202 mn on a very weak base of Q1FY21. Even EBITDA improved to Rs71 mn compared to loss in Q1FY21 and interest cost fell 49% YoY to Rs10 mn. Hence, net profit improved to Rs25 mn (loss of Rs193 mn in Q1FY21), but fell 60% QoQ as restriction in travel affected not only top-line but also logistics costs.

We raise our FY22/FY23 sales/EBITDA estimate by 23%/17% as we anticipate the improvement in travel and tourism which in turn should lead to higher luggage sales. Hence, our FY22/FY23 EBITDA forecasts are higher by 34%/17%. We raise our target PER multiple to value Safari stock as we foresee market share gains, strong improvement in sales and higher profitability over coming two-three years. We now value the stock at a PER of 40x (earlier 32x) FY23 EPS to derive a target price of Rs888 (earlier Rs557) and upgrade the stock to a BUY from HOLD earlier.

Key Highlights and Investment Rationale

- Safari remains focused on cost cutting measures: Although Q1FY22 was impacted by lockdowns across regions, Safari's sales fell only 10% QoQ. It likely gained market share in the quarter as per our channel checks. Although its EBITDA fell 47% QoQ to Rs71 due to fall in sales, it reported a net profit of Rs25 mn in a quarter which was marred down due to severe restrictions in travel and tourism.
- Upgrade to BUY: Over the past 4 quarters, Safari has continued to gain market share despite industry headwinds. Also, its cash management has been prudent in the past one year. We remain structurally positive on the growth prospects of luggage industry, although we believe near-term sales/earnings are likely to remain weak. We applaud management's ability to outperform industry sales growth and also cost cutting measures (including improving balance sheet). Hence, we upgrade the stock to a BUY from a HOLD earlier.
